

Looking to the future – challenges, changes and opportunities

Description

Tom Giddings, general manager of Alupro, discusses the waste and resources sector's 'hot topics' and explores both the hurdles and opportunities that could be in store for 2022. Over the past 18-months, the world has experienced a series of economic challenges that would previously have been considered almost unimaginable. And yet, during what has been a hugely challenging period, the waste management supply chain has shown fantastic resilience. In 2020, for example, while a significant volume of aluminium packaging was placed on the market, the sector exceeded targets and reached its best ever recycling rate.
