

The PAN Group – From circular economy to sustainable development – Economy – Vietnam News | Politics, Business, Economy, Society, Life, Sports – VietNam News

Description

The amount of resources currently exploited is four times more than it was half a century ago, according to the 2019 report of the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP). The bad news is that the amount of natural resources used is still increasing rapidly. The Global Footprint Network estimates that humans are currently using 60 per cent more resources than what the Earth can renew.
